

Assumptions:

- Many courses could be offered within the same term (semester)
- There only exists sections of a course when its offered in a specific term
- Many sections could be taught by the same instructor
- Many students can be enrolled in the same section
- Chairs of departments consists of only instructors
- Each department only has one instructor, and an instructor can be the chair of at most one department